The Core of Marxist Philosophy: Contradiction, Truth, and Practice

The Nature of Contradiction (矛盾的普遍性与特殊性) : What is the dialectical relationship between universality and particularity?

- Universality (generality) exists within particularity (specificity). Particularity cannot be separated from universality.
- To understand any phenomenon, one must analyze its specific contradictions in relation to its general context.

The Nature of Truth (真理的绝对性与相对性) : What defines the relationship between absolute and relative truth?

- Any truth is a unity of both absolute and relative aspects. Truth is objective.
- Denying the relativity of truth leads to dogmatism (教条主义). Denying the absoluteness of truth leads to relativism (相对主义).

Practice as the Test of Truth (实践是检验真理的唯一标准) : Why is practice the source and criterion of truth?

- Practice is the only standard for testing truth. Cognition begins with practice, and its truthfulness must be tested and verified through practice.
- The process of cognition involves a dialectical leap from practice to knowledge and then back to practice. Successful practice is a unity of truth and value.

The Laws of Capitalist Development: Surplus Value and Economic Crises

*The Dual Nature of Labor (劳动二重性):

- Concrete labor (具体劳动) creates use-value (使用价值).
- Abstract labor (抽象劳动) creates value (价值), which is the essence of commodities.
- This theory is the 'pivot' for understanding political economy.

*The Essence of Surplus Value (剩余价值):

- It is produced by wage-laborers during their surplus labor time (剩余劳动时间).
- Capital is not a thing, but a social production relation whose core is the pursuit of surplus value.

*The Inevitability of Crisis (经济危机):

- The root cause is the fundamental contradiction of capitalism: the conflict between the socialization of production and the private capitalist ownership of the means of production.

Lock in the Knowledge: Final Memorization Strategies

Keywords are Crucial

Pay close attention to official phrasing like 'fundamental contradiction' (基本矛盾), 矛盾, 'primary task' (首要任务), and 'decisive significance' (决定性意义). The precise wording matters.

Connect the Concepts

See the narrative flow. Understand how Marxist philosophy informs Party history, and how that history shapes present-day policies like the New Development Paradigm.

Practice Active Recall

Use this deck as intended. Cover the bullet points on each slide and try to recite the key information from memory, using only the title as a prompt.

Explain it Aloud

The surest sign of understanding is the ability to teach. Try explaining concepts like 'Dual Circulation' or the 'Significance of the Zunyi Conference' to someone else or even to yourself.

Good luck with your studies.
